Local artisan vendors will be on hand with many handcrafted and one-of-a-kind items, such as jewelry, pottery, and moccasins. Local author Kim Headlee will also be available for book signing.

Family Day will be held on Saturday, June 4th at Wolf Creek Indian Village. Children ages 4 and under are free.

"This event was created four years ago as a way to give locals visitors who have visited the village before an opportunity to come back and participate in something different from the tours we have available daily. Family Day has evolved to being an event that now has a little something for everyone in the family and appeals to those that are new visitors as well as those who are returning." explained Jaime Williams, General Manager at Wolf Creek.
